

DocuSign: Sign Documents Electronically

Sign, process, and send documents electronically with cloud solution DocuSign

The Enterprise starter package for DocuSign :

Quickly and easily digitalize approval processes.

DocuSign solution saves companies having to handle documents and contracts in paper format, shortens processing times, and enables fully transparent business processes. Sign, process, and send documents with legal effect entirely digitally supported by a secure fully digitalized workflow.

As German contract and service partners, T-Systems and Deutsche Telekom provide the electronic signature, including comprehensive advice, all licenses, and the implementation. This makes us the premier service provider offering an end-to-end solution in this area.

Maximum IT security and legal compliance

DocuSign fulfills all requirements with regard to legally effective signatures and documents. With years of expertise in IT security, T-Systems' services supplement the qualified electronic signature with data security and data protection under German law. All data is stored in cloud data centers based in Germany. The conclusion of a data processing agreement (DPA) compliant with German data protection law and the EU model contract clauses is integrated.

Simple integration without installation

The cloud solution simply works from your mobile or notebook. With its high number of APIs and built-in integration options, the application can be integrated into existing systems such as SAP, Salesforce or Office 365.
